OVERVIEW

Brenna is an experienced commercial litigator who specializes in financial services litigation and arbitration. She represents banks in a wide range of cases, including putative class actions, government enforcement actions, customer and vendor disputes, and employment cases. Brenna also frequently helps banks respond to claims brought before state regulatory agencies. Her cases often involve issues relating to the UCC, EFTA, ECOA, FDCPA, FCRA, NBA, TCPA, TILA, state consumer protection statutes, the interpretation of deposit account agreements, federal and state discrimination and wage and hour laws, and the common law. Brenna also represents both broker-dealers and financial advisors in securities-related arbitration before the FINRA on issues relating to breach of non-solicitation agreements and promissory notes, Form U4 and U5 expungement, and other employment and customer issues. Brenna has served as second chair in three jury trials, all of which resulted in favorable verdicts for her clients, and has arbitrated numerous cases to decision.
