Overview

Kelly is a seasoned litigation partner with the firm's litigation group. She has over 19 years of litigation experience in defending complex legal matters across a wide range of practice areas. Her practice includes assisting clients with disputes involving personal injury, wrongful death, product liability, medical malpractice, toxic torts, and premises liability actions. Known for her strategic approach and exceptional courtroom presence, she has consistently achieved favorable outcomes for her clients, including dismissals, settlements, and favorable verdicts.

Throughout her career, Kelly has represented individuals, corporations, and insurers, providing a comprehensive defense in high-stakes legal disputes. She is highly skilled in managing all aspects of litigation. Her deep understanding of legal nuances, coupled with her meticulous attention to detail, has earned her a reputation for providing effective and practical legal counsel.

Experience

- Successfully secured the dismissal of a complaint on behalf of a construction client, achieving a favorable outcome without the need for settlement contribution.
- Successfully mediated a complex wrongful death case, securing a favorable result for the client while navigating sensitive confidentiality concerns and addressing potential public relations issues.
- Defeated co-defendant's motion for summary judgment based on governmental immunity to ensure that the client was not left bearing full responsibility for the case.
- Secured a favorable settlement for a transportation client in a complex personal injury case involving a catastrophic accident.
- Defeated co-defendant's motion for summary judgment based on the co-defendant's claims for contractual defense and indemnification.
