OVERVIEW

A recognized leading litigator and chair of the Litigation Group, Pat has successfully tried and defended cases ranging from commercial litigation, product liability and toxic tort, employment discrimination and redistricting litigation, bribery, wire fraud, honest services and conspiracy. Pat's health care practice includes representing health care providers before state and federal regulatory agencies as well as in civil and criminal investigations.

Dedicated to the law and service to society, Pat has tried cases in state and federal courts throughout the country, working as a team with her clients to reach successful resolutions in the most efficient manner.

Pat has co-authored a national text on trial advocacy and written articles on evidence, trial strategy, various aspects of constitutional law, criminal law and on federal sentencing guidelines. She frequently lectures at regional and national seminars on these topics.

"Ms. Rocha provides superb advice; both legal and from a business perspective. She has the technical experience and equally if not more importantly the business judgment that has successfully guided American Renal Associates through many twists and turns prevalent in a health care organization. Pat is responsible and we have never lost with her guidance."

Joe Carlucci, CEO, American Renal Associates

Our attorneys at Adler Pollock & Sheehan have supported the growth of our business over the past 12 years and enabled us to achieve our goals. Attorneys Sally Dowling and Pat Rocha have been dedicated and trusted advisors; and genuine friends. The firm offers a tremendous breadth and depth. I recommend AP&S wholeheartedly.

– Robert Crausman, M.D., President, Tru-Med Inc.

REPRESENTATIVE MATTERS

- Pat represented the Transacting Party in the first Hospital Conversions Act Application accepted by the Rhode Island Department of Health and Attorney General and has successfully represented Transacting Parties in subsequent hospital acquisitions.
- Pat defended a major health care insurer on antitrust charges brought in federal court by an out of state hospital system.
- Pat defended a national utility company in a federal court trial involving charges of environmental law violations.
- Pat defended a gaming facility on charges of "honest services" mail and wire fraud and conspiracy in two federal court trials.
- Pat defended a major foreign pharmaceutical manufacturing company in a multi-jurisdictional criminal case relating to the marketing and distribution of HGH.
- Pat successfully filed a motion to disqualify plaintiff's counsel in a federal court action in which the court adopted for the first time the "hot potato" doctrine barring an attorney and law firm from curing dual representation of clients by severing the relationship with the pre-existing client for a more lucrative one.
- Pat has defended a number of clients in class action, antitrust, false claims act and employment discrimination cases.
- Pat has successfully represented health care providers in acquiring regulatory approvals from Rhode Island regulators, as well as providing a defense to them in state and federal civil and criminal investigations.
- Pat advises cannabis clients on legal and regulatory issues including licensing, litigation and compliance issues.
- Pat has also successfully challenged unconstitutional regulatory schemes in the Rhode Island Supreme and Superior Courts as well as in the Rhode Island U.S. District Court.
