AP&S successfully combines the depth and breadth of expertise of a large law firm with the advantages of responsive and direct personal service by lawyers found in smaller firms. AP&S is a full service law firm featuring a nationally-renowned litigation practice and a sophisticated corporate practice. AP&S services clients throughout New England, across the country and around the world.

Our broad-based litigation practice is among the most experienced in New England. AP&S attorneys represent local, regional, national and international clients on wide-ranging issues including: business litigation, antitrust and trade regulation, intellectual property litigation, securities litigation, tort claims (including product liability and negligence claims alleging injuries to property and person), construction, banking, defamation, employment discrimination, professional malpractice, director and officer liability, insurance and health care issues. We also have substantial expertise in pre-claim evaluation and assessment, arbitration, mediation and other dispute-resolution processes and techniques.

In the past year, AP&S attorneys handled a wide variety of commercial litigation cases in various state and federal trial courts as well as on appeal, ranging from complex issues arising out of US and foreign tax laws and sophisticated financial transactions, securities and Blue Sky litigation, class actions, multi-district litigation, derivative actions, shareholder disputes, ERISA claims, lender liability actions, intellectual property disputes, environmental litigation and white collar criminal defense of both companies and individuals.

Among our best known lawyers is AP&S veteran litigator, John A. Tarantino who has served as lead counsel in high profile, precedent setting cases in multiple jurisdictions. John is a Fellow of the American College of Trial Lawyers, The International Society of Barristers, The International Academy of Trial Lawyers and Litigation Counsel of America and a member of the American Board of Trial Advocates.
